Dear Steven,

Response to this new design has been overwhelmingly positive. We're so excited about that. After all, we want you to want to read this when you receive it!

In this issue, we're going to highlight products from several different sections of the store. For instance, we have a marvelous selection of books for children, and they're categorized by the age that's appropriate. And our business books are in five separate sub-categories. So let's give it a go, and see if anything stimulates your interest.

Now for the good stuff...

Let's Get Ready for Kindergarten

by Stacey Kannenberg

(children, baby & preschool)

The Let's Get Ready series from Cedar Valley Publishing is taking the nation by storm, helping parents and kids prepare for Kindergarten! Teachers at home and schools love it!

It's not a storybook or a workbook; it's a book that covers the curriculum:

- The alphabet in and out of sequence,
- Numbers in and out of sequence,
- Left and right,
- Shapes,
- Colors,
- High frequency words,
- Positional words,
- Opposites,
- Rhyming,
- Let's read a story, and so much more.

It's all in one engaging book illustrated with Mrs. Good, the teacher and six adorable Cedar Valley Kids that you simply read to children to help them learn.

Bud Bilanich

The Common Sense Guy

(Business, Managing & Leading)

Bud Bilanich's pragmatic approach to business, life, and the business of life has earned him the title The Common Sense Guy, and made him one of the most sought after speakers, consultants and executive coaches in the USA!

Dr. Bilanich's work focuses on improving the performance of individuals, teams and entire organizations. Bud is Harvard educated, but has a no-nonsense, common sense approach to his work that stretches back to his roots in the steel country of Western Pennsylvania.
